

300 holidays.

Ask about any of them, mid-meeting.

Milo is an AI data analyst for the whole team. It connects to your reservations system, website, email and finance, then answers in plain English in seconds: which departures need filling, which campaign paid back, and which walkers are due another holiday. Fuller departures mean more surplus for the Outdoor Trust.

Three questions for Monday's sales meeting

Every answer comes with the working, the source behind each figure, and an offer to do the next thing.

DEPARTURES TO FILL

Which departures in the next 12 weeks need a push?

 Milo 11 sec

14 departures are under half full. Six are two bookings short of minimum numbers, four in Crete and Tenerife. Last autumn a late-availability email filled 31 similar seats.

CAMPAIGN TO BOOKINGS

Did the Greece campaign pay back, and what do we push next?

 Milo 9 sec

Greece took 41 bookings in the three weeks after the brochure and email, against 17 before, mostly Wild Crete and Complete Crete. Paid social brought two bookings.

REPEAT WALKERS

Who walked with us in 2024 and hasn't booked since?

 Milo 12 sec

2,140 walkers, and 620 have taken three or more holidays, mostly Classic at Moderate grade. Reward Points expire after two years, so £22,000 of points lapse before Christmas.

Figures are illustrative. On Ramble's own data every answer traces back to the booking it came from, and Milo shows the working.

Travel with confidence

Milo runs in the UK or EU region you choose. Customer data never trains a model and never goes to an external AI service. Access follows your existing permissions. Calculations run as code against your data rather than through the language model, so the same question returns the same number every time.
